The Japanese people reached the Pacific Coast of Asia from Western Asia about 650 B.C. under their first emperor, Jimmu Tenno, who was, perhaps the grandson of King Hosen.

By slow degrees, the conquered early inhabitants of the Japanese Islands, and eventually ruled the whole group from the west Aleutian Isles to and including Formosa or Taiwan.

At times, like their brethren of the British Isles they struggled with civil wars but eventually became a perfectly unified and a highly civilized nation.

At the time of the visit of the American Fleet about the middle of last century they were as well governed and as highly civilized as the United States, or Canada of the present day.

Life and property are as safe in Japan as in the States and Canada and more so. Education religion and the spirit of freedom are universal throughout the Empire today as truly as in Canada or England.

The administration of law in Japan is unsurpassed among the nations of earth. The old Samurai spirit of honour and justice still prevails and rules the nation.

Success Assured

In the far east, Japan is pursuing the policy and highlines of international equity and in the end will succeed.

The Japanese and Chinese are descended from two major and separate race ancestors. One today, has no true national government, while the other has as perfect a government as any nation in existence.

Joseph had a divinely inspired dream in which his parents were the Sun and Moon. He naturally honoured both these heavenly bodies and they of Israel from east of the Jordan naturally held their ancestor line as coming from "the Sun goddess".

Similarity Noted
Joseph's crest was the Bull. "No wonder our ancestors worshipped the Bull, cow or calf. And no wonder that the Japanese held sacred the Bull, representing their ancestor Joseph and Manasseh east of the Jordan.

Our ancestor had a wonderful experience with the fiery serpents in Arabia. Moses erected a pole of which was a serpent and in after centuries, the people of Israel held sacred that serpent even to the day of Hezekiah. Strangely and naturally, the fiery serpent on a pole is

FEAR

The great god Fear grinned back at me;
I am the foe men never see,
The dust they never feel," said he.
I am the wrong they never hear,
The poison they themselves prepare
I am the shadow on the stair,
I have no voice and yet I speak;
No strength and yet I blanch the cheek
And leave the strongest mortals weak
I am the blackguard man befriends
Heeds most, feeds, cherishes, attends
And 'gainst all counsel wise defends
I fire no gun, I make no cry,
No lodging place in fact have I
Yet I'm the countless deaths men die
Mine is a humor ghastly grim,
The lamp of reason I can dim,
Tho I am nothing but a whim,
I am man's cruellest, bitterest foe,
Yet past his door I could not go,
Had he the wit to tell me "No!"
